TRIP OVERVIEW

Mardi Himal Trekking takes you to the hidden pockets of the southern Annapurna Himalayas, which were isolated and forgotten for years. The early pioneers and explorers visited this amazing picturesque high country and named it the Other Sanctuary due to its close location to the actual and original Annapurna Sanctuary, which is a mere distance west. After decades of isolation, the two areas are now separated by a deep, rocky gorge carved by the Modi River. In the last few years, trekking to Mardi Himal has become one of the most desired destinations for all trekkers. It can be a perfect adventure for women of all ages whether you are travelling solo or with your fellow female explorers.

The reason for gaining popularity in Mardi Himal is its easy accessibility from the road head. One can enjoy the adventure in a week or less, and as well for its spectacular viewpoints. The walk reaches the highest point at about 4,500 m, without the problem of getting altitude sickness, which mostly happens around the high-altitude adventure destinations in the Himalayas. This is why Mardi Himal, is regarded as one of the most sought adventure areas for blissful and scenic walks. Mardi Himal is a lesser mountain at 5,587 m or 18,330 feet high, listed as one of the trekking peaks. It is located right beneath the southwest flank of towering Machhapuchare Himal, the famous Fish-Tail peak, within the Annapurna Himalayan region.

The adventure to Mardi Himal base camp trek includes a short, exciting drive both ways in the beginning and at the end. The walk follows through an enchanting forested path amidst tall rhododendrons and pine trees as the trek progresses. Exploring the Mardi Himal region offers a unique opportunity to observe the daily lifestyle of local women, an experience that will empower and inspire every trekker. Upon reaching Mardi Himal Viewpoint, high above the tree line, you will arrive at the final goal and one of the journey's highlights. Stand beneath the staggering and prominent Machhapuchare Himal that dominates the Himalayan blue sky.

Enjoy the fabulous panorama of Annapurna Himalayan groups of snow peaks with Mardi Himal, including views of dramatic rolling green hills. The return journey is on an alternative route from the last camp of High Camp and Badal Danda. Then, the walks lead downhill to the lower farm village at Siding to end the walks and then drive back to scenic Pokhara. You will have a most exciting experience and adventures on Mardi Himal Trekking, with the excellent services of Women Adventures.
